APPEAL FOR NEW BRIDGES

TWO DELEGATIONS APPEAR BEFORE COUNTY COURT.

IN THREE-DAY SESSION

Settlements With Township Collectors to Be Made.—Books in Unusually Good Shape.

Two delegations from Hughes township met with the county court this morning, opening a three-day session. The delegations sought bridges over the White Cloud south of Maryville.

The county court has a busy session ahead, as included among the business will be the passing of bills, settling with the county collectors, making final settlement on railroad and telegraph taxes and drawing a jury.

One delegation appearing before the court, which included Thorn Acklin, Boone Clark, Pete Maurer and Frank Lyle, asked the court for a longer bridge to span the White Cloud on the Graham road. There is a bridge now spaning this creek at this point, six and a half miles east of Graham, or about one and a half miles west of the paving south of Maryville, where the main road turns off to Graham. The present bridge is at an angle to the road and the men from Hughes township want to have the bridge made straight with the road.

The other delegation, including John Bolin, Arthur Rasco, James Fraser, and Frank Tompkins, told the court that a new bridge is needed across the White Cloud just a mile south of where the other bridge is located. They said that this bridge is rusted and should be replaced. The county court promised to view these two bridges this week and make a decision later.

The court accepted the tax books of the collectors of Hopkins, Green, Grant and Hughes townships. The collector of Atchison township was scheduled to make a settlement later today. The court said the books were in better shape this time than in many years and that most of the taxes had been collected except from persons who had moved from the state. The court will be in session Tuesday and Wednesday.

Speaker Added for School Convention

Miss Margaret Streeter of the Victor Talking Machine Company, of Newark, N. J., will be an additional speaker at the school board convention which will be held here Friday afternoon in the circuit court room of the courthouse, according to Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools.

Miss Streeter will speak on the subject of "Music in the Public Schools."

Mr. Lind was born in Denmark in 1850. He came to the United States in 1873 and worked awhile in New York, then went to New Jersey where he worked in an iron mine. Here he met Louis Anderson and they came to Missouri together. He was married in 1877. He had lived on a farm until recent years.

Mr. Lind has no children of his own but he reared Mrs. C. D. Koch of this city, whose mother was a cousin to Mrs. Lind. He has no relatives, but a brother lives in Denmark.

TWO IN RACE FOR SHERIFF

HARVE ENGLAND AND JOHN SURPLUS FIRST TO FILE

OTHERS ARE EXPECTED

Lively Contests for Several County Offices Are Indicated by Advance Discussion

Although Democratic and Republican primary elections are yet far off, discussion of local politics is becoming more and more of a common subject in Nodaway County, and with it the potential candidates are feeling out public opinion.

Today the lid was opened as two candidates flipped their hats in the ring for county offices, indicated that they were the forerunners of many others to pay Fred Wright, county clerk, a $5 filing fee.

As usual, the sheriff's office is drawing first consideration both of today's candidate seeking the Democratic nomination.

Harve England, of Maryville, and John Surplus, of Parnell, were the two men to file first. One of these candidates said the race for sheriff would stir up some real interest, as several deputies and a former sheriff had intentions of seeking the job now held by Lowell B. Campbell, formerly of Barnard. Mr. Campbell, by law, cannot succeed himself.

Just four years ago Harve England was the first candidate to file, and he was today. Mr. England, who operates a small truck farm and vineyard on the south edge of Maryville, has been an officer of the law for many years. He served as deputy under Steve Roach and Mr. Campbell, for a number of years was chief of police of Maryville and at present is a special officer for the city.

Mr. Surplus thought he was the first to file, but his announcement did not reach the county clerk until after that of Mr. England, Mr. Wright said. Mr. Surplus served as a deputy sheriff under Ed Wallace and also has served under Sheriff Campbell. He has lived in Jackson county and Independence township forty-six years since moving to Nodaway county from Illinois with his parents from Illinois.

The other county offices for which there will be elections this fall are representative in the state legislature, prosecuting attorney, probate judge, county treasurer and county judges from the north and south districts.

Candidates must file by June.

Mrs. R. J. Boyd of Kansas City Dead

Mrs. R. J. Boyd of Kansas City died following an operation at a Kansas City hospital Saturday morning. Funeral services were held in Kansas City this morning and burial was made in Kansas City.

Mrs. Boyd had many friends in Maryville and her daughter, Miss Maude Boyd, has visited here with Mrs. O. K. Bovard, a relative, Miss Mae Corwin and Mrs. L. M. Eek. Miss Corwin went to Kansas City yesterday to attend the funeral. She sang at the service this morning.

YOUTHS ADMIT BANK HOLD-UP

PAIR ARRESTED AT HOPKINS MAKE CONFESSION

TAKEN BY OFFICERS

Sheriff Here and His Assistants Are Praised for Cooperation With Webster Groves Police

Walter Byerly and Gilbert Cruse, the two youthful bank bandits of Kirkwood, suburb of St. Louis, were returned to Webster Groves, another suburb, late Saturday night after making confessions to Chief of Police Andrew McDonnell and Assistant Chief Frank Lenz of Webster Groves that they held up the Old Orchard Trust Company of that place last Wednesday.

The youths also are believed to have been involved in several minor robberies and thefts of automobiles.

Before taking the men from the county jail, after they had been brought here from Hopkins, where they were caught Saturday afternoon Chief McDonnell, president of the Missouri Association of Chiefs of Police, made a statement commending the manner in which the sheriff's office here co-operated with him and Mr. Lenz.

When the Webster Groves officers arrived here Saturday, they did not alight from the train at the station, fearing that the youths would be watching and would recognize them. Instead they had the engineer stop and let them off some distance beyond the station. They were met there by the local officers and taken to Hopkins by automobile.

After the capture had been effected, one of the bandits said he had been keeping a close watch on every train coming into Hopkins, and that the Webster Groves officers would have been recognized had they attempted to make the arrest by themselves.

Gives Local Officers Credit

Chief McDonnell gave out a hurried statement Saturday afternoon regarding the capture of the bandits at Hopkins and afterwards said he wished to make a statement giving Sheriff L. B. Campbell and his deputies full credit for the success of their trip to Nodaway county.

"I greatly regret," McDonnell said, "that I did not make it more plain to your reporter the reason for our success. I want to say that the outcome was not a surprise to me after I met the sheriff of this county and his men and I knew then what the result of our trip would be."

Speaking of Sheriff Campbell, he said "I have been in most of the counties of the state and although I do not know him personally, it certainly is a pleasant surprise to men of our craft, especially after working for two or three days on a case like this without sleep and half dead, to find a wide awake department ready and willing to help us on our trail and send us home successful."

A youth by the name of Andrew Eigenbrod of Kirkwood, who said he took part in the hold up, implicated the two men who were caught at Hopkins. The officers found $294.20 on the youths and they said they had divided the loot with Eigenbrod before they started for Hopkins.

In Other Hold-Ups

The St. Louis Globe-Dispatch said Sunday that in addition to confessing to the bank robbery, Eigenbrod admitted participating in the holdups of two Kroger stores in St. Louis County. In both instances, he said, his companions were the two youths who were arrested yesterday.

The arrest of Eigenbrod was the result of clues followed by Chief McDonnell after he had been informed that Byerly and a youth who answered the description of one of the bank robbers had been seen together on a bus.

With this information the police chief went to Byerly's home, where he learned the youth had not been seen since the morning of the robbery. He learned however, the name and address of Byerly's most intimate friend. It was Cruse.

At Cruse's home he discovered the youth had not been seen since morning of the robbery. Employing the same tactics as before, Chief McDonnell learned that Cruse and Eigenbrod were very close friends. He went to Eigenbrod's home at 3 o'clock Friday morning and there made the first arrest.

Eigenbrod confessed and named his companions, declaring however, they had gone to East St. Louis to make their escape.

Light Company Would Buy Union Star Plant

Application Filed By Maryville Company for Permission to Purchase Distributing Station.

Jefferson City, Mo., Mar. 5.—The Maryville Electric Light and Power Company today made application to the public service commission for authority to purchase the Union Star, DeKalb County Electriet Distributing System.

The Union Star Company has been acting as a distributing agent for the Maryville Company and does not own a power plant but takes current from Maryville. The petition sets out that the consolidation would afford more economical power and lights. The purchase price would be $12,500.

Officials of the Maryville Electric Light and Power Company were out of the city today and no confirmation of the application could be obtained.

ASKS DATA ON EMPLOYMENT

SENATE WANTS FIGURES ON MEN OUT OF WORK

BRINGS SHARP CLASH

Democrats Charge Coolidge With Deception; Republicans Reply With Cry of Politics

Washington, March 5—After sharp debate in which Presidential politics was aired, the Senate today adopted the Wagner resolution requestinng the Secretary of Labor to investigate extent of unemployment in the United States.

Democrats argued that President Coolidge and the Republican administration had led the country into a false position of security about employment conditions, while Republicans claimed that the Democrats were "as usual playing politics in a presidential year."

The resolution was sponsored by Senators Wagner and Copeland, Democrats, New York, who are closely allied with Alfred E. Smith, presidential campaign.

Many Employed Part Time

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, introduced an amendment calling for investigation of part-time employment as well as unemployment and Wagner accepted the change without a vote.

"Sixty-seven per cent of all the industries in the country are working only part time, according to labor department statistics," Walsh said.

"I cannot say who furnished the President information about high wages and plentiful employment at a time when all the evidence indicated wages were dropping and ranks of the discontented were daily being recruited by new armies of unemployed," Wagner, who is an Al Smith leader, declared in his maiden speech as a Senator.

4,000,000 Out of Work

"To this day the administration has not yet decided whether to admit or deny the facts of an unemployment situation rivalling that of 1920.

"From Mr. Hoover's department of commerce, that watchtower of the administration that sees all, hears all and knows all, the trumpets blare forth that all is well.

"But if you adjust your receiver so as to tune in on the department of labor you hear the admission:

"'Yes, we have unemployment; why not admit it?'

"Four million people, I am informed, is a conservative estimate of the number out of work—one of every ten of our wage earners."

KILLS, CAN'T BELIEVE IT

AGED CARPENTER IN TEARS AFTER CHURCH SHOOTING.

HIS WIFE A VICTIM

Her Daughter and Son-in-Law Other Victims in a Kansas City Tragedy.

Kansas City, Mo., Mar. 5.—With tears in his eyes, an aged carpenter denied here today that it was he who killed one person and wounded two others with a revolver yesterday.

Chris C. Hampton, 70, was asked by police today why he killed his wife and wounded her daughter, Mrs. Paul E. Hutchens, and her son-in-law, husband of the girl.

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"I didn't do that."

"Oh, No! No! They kept trying to tell me that yesterday. It's not true. Why do you fellows keep telling me that?"

Hampton was arrested after he shot the trio as they were leaving church here Sunday. A score of witnesses have been procured to testify against him.

To Grand Jury Tomorrow.

State's attorneys said they will present the case to the Grand Jury tomorrow and will file charges after an expected indictment is returned.

No motive had yet been assigned today for the shooting. Hampton and his wife had been separated about two months, during which time Hrs. Hampton had been living with her daughter.

Mrs. Hutchens, who was shot five times by the aged man, was believed winning in her fight for life at a hospital here. Her husband was not injured seriously.

The shooting occurred in front of the First Church of Christ while Hampton's wife and her son-in-law and daughter were about to step into their automobile.

Church Goes in Panic.

Church goers were thrown into a panic when a half dozen shots from Hampton's pistol broke the Sabbath quiet. "They treated me awfully dirty and I wanted to kill all three of them," Hampton told police who arrested him after the shooting.

Mrs. Flora E. Hampton, 65, the crazed man's wife, was shot once, the bullet lodging at the base of her brain. She died before aid could be summoned.

After killing his wife Hampton shot Mrs. Hutchens five times and her husband once when he attempted to get control of the gun.

Hampton was overpowered by a patrolman and taken to police headquarters where he admitted he had been drinking.

He decided to kill them when he learned his wife had filed suit for divorce and when Mr. and Mrs. Hutchens scolded him for his failure to support his wife, he said.

Ellison Upholds Tax Verdict Against Road

Wabash Must Pay $801.98 Delinquent for Year 1923, Commissioner Decides

Jefferson City, Mo., March 5—Commissioner George R. Ellison in Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court Saturday affirmed the judgment of the Circuit Court of Montgomery County in finding a judgment of $801.98 against the Wabash Railway Company for delinquency for the year 1923.

The suit was brought by the collector of the revenue of the county. The Wabash contested payment of the tax on the ground that the County Court in levying the taxes for the year exceeded its power by increasing the taxes more than 10 per cent over the preceding year.

Construction of one statute and the constitutionality of another was involved in the case. The Circuit Court ruled for the Wabash Railway and the collector appealed to the Supreme Court.

PLANES TAKE MORE LIVES

FIVE DEAD, THREE OTHERS INJURED OVER WEEK-END.

LINDY TO AIR AGAIN

Flier Maintains Secrecy Surrounding Him.—Interest in New Motor Is Denied.

Airplane accidents took an unusually heavy toll in human life over the week-end, while the favorites among American fliers were hampered by bad weather and machine trouble.

Five men were killed at San Diego Sunday when an airplane, which the air control board had barred as unfit, stalled at an altitude of 300 feet and went into a nose dive.

At Collingswood, N. J., three persons, the pilot and two passengers were slightly hurt when an airplane crashed a few seconds after it had left the ground.

Lindbergh Off Again.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off from Washington to an unannounced destination today after a delay caused by a broken tail skid. He flew to Washington Saturday from New York.

Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, the famous pilot's mother, remained in Buffalo over Sunday because of bad weather. She started her return flight today to Detroit from Boston, where she was an honor guest at the National Educational Convention.

Charles A. Levine's proposed nonstop flight to Cuba from Curtiss Field, L. I., was balked Sunday by high winds.

Still "Man of Mystery"

Washington, Mar. 5.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off from Bolling Field at 10:22 a. m. today for an unannounced destination after being "a man of mystery" here for two days.

It was believed he was heading for St. Louis, though it was possible he might stop en route.

With Lindbergh in the plane were W. D. Robertson and B. F. Mahoney, aircraft manufacturers and Col. Breckenridge, Lindbergh's legal adviser.

Lindbergh has no definite interest in the "fuelless motor" Lieut. Lester Maitland, California-Hawaiian flier, said today. According to Maitland, who talked with Lindbergh at Albany, N. Y., a few days ago, Lindbergh merely was asked to inspect the motor, in a Hangar at Selfridge Field, Mich.

"He said he found the idea 'very interesting,' but beyond that had no interest in the motor," Maitland said. "Lindbergh specifically said he had no financial interest whatever in the Hendershot engine."

Mrs. Grayson Left Penniless.

Muncie, Ind., March 5.—Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson, who perished at sea with three men companions in the attempted trans-Atlantic flight of her plane "The Dawn," was left penniless by preparations for the flight, her father, A. J. Wilson, revealed here today.

Higher Temperatures To Rout Brief Winter

Kansas City, Mo., March 5.—Winter's brief comeback will be routed by rising temperatures in the Southwest this afternoon and tomorrow, according to the forecast today. The mercury today will rise about freezing and tomorrow will move into the 40's, it was predicted.

CONTEST KEEN IN CALIFORNIA

THREE - CORNERED DEMOCRATIC RACE EXCITES INTEREST.

DRIES BEGIN A DRIVE

Attempt to Be Made to United Solid South Against Smith, Reed and Ritchie.

(EDITORS NOTE: The following story is the first of a series of sectional political reviews by United Press staff correspondents throughout the country.)

San Francisco, Mar. 5.—Interest of Pacific Coast politicians was centered today on the California contest for delegates to the Democratic National Convention in Houston.

Forces of three Democratic candidates were actively at work in the state, with indications that the fight will become one of the hottest California has had before a presidential primary election.

Events of the past week developed a three-cornered race between Governor Al Smith of Nw York, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana for the endorsement of California democracy.

Claimed for Hoover.

In the Republican ranks, campaign lieutenants of Herbert Hoover claimed the state for him without serious opposition.

Senator Reed last week invaded the Far West for a brief speaking campaign and assailed the Coolidge administration in addresses before Democratic rallies in cities of Arizona, California and Nevada. While Reed was in San Francisco, announcement came from the political organization of William G. McAdoo that it would support Senator Walsh in the California primaries.

Although Walsh is not expected to stump the state, the McAdoo forces will endeavor to rally to his banners the votes of dry Democrats who are hostile to the candidacy of Smith and only lukewarm toward Reed.

Senator Reed, in his speeches, touched lightly on the wet and dry question, saying honesty in government, not, "a glass of whiskey or a schooner of beer," would be the major issue of the campaign.

Less Activity to North.

Less activity was apparent today in Washington and Oregon than in California. Judge William King, Democratic National Committeeman, and C. H. Treacy, manager of the Portland headquarters for Smith, were directing the fight to win the Oregon delegation for the New York Governor.

Oswald West, former governor of Oregon and National committeeman elect, declared himself in favor of an uninstructed delegation to the Houston convention.

Headquarters for Hoover were opened in Portland some time ago.

Several scouts for Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, were in Portland looking over the situation, but they left without indicating whether Lowden would enter the Oregon Republican primaries.

Dries Get Busy.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Mar. 5.—The southeastern states prohibition convention was to plan ways and means today of uniting the solid South of Democracy against the 'wet' presidential candidacies of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, Governor Ritchie of Maryland and Al Smith of New York.

Exorted to prevent "a cocktail president" from being elected the convention was told at its opening session last night that the voters of the South might go Republican "or stay away from the polls" if a "wet" nominee for President is selected.

Bishop James Cannon, jr., chairman of the Board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, south, in the keynote address of the convention opening, said the nomination of either Reed, Ritchie or Al Smith would be "the greatest calamity that could befall the Democratic party at this time."

The annual election of officers of the Maryville Elks club will be held tomorrow night at the Elks building.

Weather

Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; slowly rising temperature; minimum tonight, about 25 degrees.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

THOSE SCHOOL EXPENSES.

Education, observes President Lowell of Harvard, is the biggest single business in the country. It employs 800,000 men and women and costs $2,000,000,000 a year. And much of the money, President Lowell charges, is wasted.

A good many taxpayers take the same view. Are they right?

Only moderately so, say other educators. "It is a business not yet thoroughly organized, and inefficient in many respects," yet on the whole well serving its great purpose.

Says a defender who is also a statistician: "Critics of the public schools who cite enormous increases in expenditure in the last decade, and who imply on the part of the schools corresponding wastefulness and extravagance, do not tell all the facts.

"School expenses, of course, have increased—but almost precisely in the same ratio as expenses have increased for families, stores and the various departments of government." That is to say, the cost of education has simply risen with the cost of living.

Another thing might well be said: The education today is better than it was before the war. Methods are better, equipment is better, buildings are better, teachers are better. Instruction is richer. Try the children, and compare their all-round knowledge with what their parents knew at their age. Observe the larger outlook on life they gain from their instruction. See what is done for them in the matter of health and sane living. There is immense progress.

The "plant" is still not used to its capacity. Buildings and equipment might be utilized, for children or grown-ups, more hours of the day and more weeks of the year. But that is the community's fault. And progress is being made along that line.

Straw votes which way the wind blows, but, in this country, the winds are extremely variable.

It looks like Hoover against the field in the Republican derby.

Trenton has taken over the Junior College that has been operated there for a number of years as a part of the public school system.

The United States Senate has passed a bill to compel lobbyists to report and register with the house and senate before making any advances in the interest of pending legislation. Lobbyists have become so numerous around the halls of congress that it is impossible to tell the sheep from the goats. One of the first acts of the Wilson administration was to drive the lobbyist around the capitol building out of business but they seem to have come back in double force.

What Other Editors Say

HARD-BOILED HUMPHREY.

We quoted recently part of Gifford Pinchot's letter to William E. Humphrey. In that letter Pinchot, foe of the Power Trust, expressed doubt that the Federal Trade Commission, of which Humphrey is chairman, would make an effective investigation of public utilities. Pinchot accurately described Humphrey as "a bitter enemy of the Roosevelt conservation policy, an opponent of Federal action and a lobbyist for lumbermen." Despite his doubt of Humphrey's zeal toward such a matter as public utility investigation, Pinchot offered to produce testimony to show that a Power Trust exists.

In reply, Humphrey says that for "the infinite relief of the country," Pinchot should have his "keeper lead him to the thistle patch," and that his "idea of a perfectly useless thing is to waste time on Gifford Pinchot." Thus does a high public officer, who is known far and wide as a six-minute egg, drag the controversy to the level of a street brawl. Whereas Pinchot's letter was a contribution to the art of being frank, Humphrey's reply is merely a piece of cheap abuse. He will have to say more than that to keep Pinchot off his neck.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—One of the most absorbing performances which the two political parties are about to offer a mildly interested nation in their quadrennial competition for the spoils of office and such perquisites as those may entail is that in which the Democratic party will appear as a Magpie and the Republican party will take the role of a Clam.

That is to say, one party is going to talk and act like a magpie very angry about something and the other will talk and act like a clam.

This strange stunt may be enacted several times, but it is sure to be observed as Democratic orators disembogue at their best and loudest against the oil scandals of the Harding administration. It will be recalled that when this issue arose in 1924 the Democratic party followed the best traditions of magpiedom and the Republican party took its cue from clamdom.

In 1924 there were still some hard-boiled politicians—of the type that sent men to Montana to "get" Senator Wheeler—who still maintained that Fall was a far-sighted and conscientious official, while Doheny and Sinclair were super-patriots who had taken the navy's oil merely to save us from the Yellow Peril. The supreme court has spoken since then, however, and has denounced those involved in very strong language.

In 1924 Harding was dead and Coolidge, the candidate, had been a mere vice president when the oil gang got the oil and Fall got the money.

Whether or not the oil scandals and the new charge that Sinclair helped pay the party debt about the time the administration gave him Teapot Dome will have any effect in November, it is probable that election day will come without mention of the oil scandals by any important Republican. The G. O. P. attitude is that although it may have been a skeleton in the closet and although the Democrats may have been indecent enough to break down the door that hid it, a dignified silence is the best answer to those who still drag it around the streets or dangle it before them.

Not once has the administration expressed itself upon the subject, not even to pat on the back the two able lawyers who have recovered the navy's reserves and kept the bloodhounds close at the coattails of Fall, Sinclair and Doheny. It has been as if no highly placed official or member of the Congress, except he be a Democrat or a Republican of independent stripe, was at all interested. Of course, the light of recent charges that corrupt oil money helped pay party campaign debts, it was only human for the gents in power not to be especially enthusiastic over further prosecution and investigation.

The children are: Miss Marguerite Dowling, a teacher of the White Cloud school; Miss Mildred Dowling, a student at the State Teachers College and Virginia Rose and Donald Dowling of the home. Mr. Dowling is survived by a sister, Miss Bernice Dowling, Maryville; and a brother, Earl Dowling, of Hopkins.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow. Burial will be made in Hopkins cemetery.

Student Is Fined on Drunkenness Charge

Ray Smith, of Ridgeway, a student of the State Teachers College, was fined $10 and costs of $6.65 in the police court of Judge Joseph H. Sayler 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. He pleaded guilty to drunkenness and disorderly conduct in front of the Maryville Drug Store late Friday night.

Night Officer William Trullinger and Watchman Frank McKee noticed his actions and placed him under arrest.

Bellows Is Youngest Shorthorn President

The Kansas City Drovers Telegram had the following about the election of Dale Bellows of Maryville as president of Central Shorthorn Breeders' association:

"Dale Bellows, junior member of the firm of Bellows Bros., Maryville, Mo., is the newly elected president of the Central Shorthorn Breeders' association, as the result of the annual meeting held in the Hoof and Horn club on the ninth floor of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange building in Kansas City, Mo. The Central association is the oldest local Shorthorn breeders' association in the United States, and Dale Bellows is the youngest president in its history. Mr. Bellows was invited to Kansas City to judge the cattle that were sold in the Central breeders' sale yesterday."

Two Cars Collide at First and Davis

A Studebaker automobile, driven by L. E. Hutchison, was badly damaged at 8 o'clock last night when it collided at East First and Davis streets with a Ford owned by F. E. VanVelson who lives northeast of Maryville.

Hutchison was going west on East First street when his car collided with the Ford as it was turning off First street onto North Davis street. No one was injured.

Hunger After Christ Declared First Need

Hearts Are Empty Because They Did Not Ask and Seek," the Rev. R. A. Mitchell Says.

"He hath filled the hungry heart with good things," a quotation found in Luke 1:53 was the text on which the Rev. R. A. Mitchell of the M. E. Church, South, preached his sermon yesterday morning on "The Hungry Spirit."

"The simple truth is this, God has that to give to men which the hungry, just because they are hungry, are in a mood to find. Before the vessel of the human heart is filled, there must be hunger, eagerness of desire, passionate seeking, heartfelt prayer," he said.

"The measure of human desire is the limit of God's power to bestow. You are as powerless to give the greatest things to your child until he hungers for them as God is powerless to give to you.

"The greatest joy a father and mother have is to see the stirring of their child's heart for the passion, for the knowledge and a development of a taste for the beautiful. However ready you are to let your child have all the opportunities which life affords, you cannot give them until his lips ask, his mind seeks and his hands reach out to receive.

"Need and desire are the measure of our capacity to receive in every aspect of life. The man who is contented with what he knows will never learn. The man who is contented with what he is will never grow. Behind all progress is hunger.

"I will not claim that every prayer is answered. The answer to our prayers may be withheld and yet the greatest things given. When Jesus prayed in the garden that His cup of bitterness might pass, the answer did not come, the cup did not pass. He asked it with a hunger of spirit that caused Him to sweat blood, but the answer He sought did not come.

"Would you say that He was sent away empty? Might He not have turned away in bitterness of heart as we sometimes do? The letter of His petition was shattered but the petition was answered in a surprising way. The specific things for which we pray may sometimes be withheld, but if we hunger to do the will of God we will not be sent away empty."

Revival at Bolckow Closes Last Night

Rev. E. F. Hagee Makes Thirty-Five Additions to Church.—Twenty by Baptism.

The Rev. E. F. Hagee, student in the State Teachers College here, closed a revival meeting last night at Bolckow. The house was packed and a number of persons were turned away. There were thirty-five additions to the church, of which twenty were by baptism.

The Reverend Mr. Hagee spoke last night on "The Reward of The Faithful." There were eight additions yesterday. The feature of the service yesterday morning was a talk given by Ed Goforth who joined the Bolckow church at a revival thirty-four years ago. A delegation from the Bethany church was present last night.

Despite Differences, Christ Is the Center

"His Imperial Place in World Too Obvious to Doubt," Rev. W. S. Woodhull Says.

"A man may doubt the miracles that Jesus did; he may doubt the miracle of his physical resurrection. But the miracle of Christ's imperial place in the life of the world is too obvious for any thinking man to doubt," declared the Rev. W. S. Woodhull, pastor of the First M. E. Church, in a sermon yesterday morning "Christ at The Center."

"Mohammed has millions of followers and so has Gautama Buddha and so has Confucius. But they are the prophets of the backward nations. They are out-dated. Man has run beyond them. But Jesus is the most modern voice of today. Neither his teachings nor His spirit in any particular has become obsolete. His words and himself fit the best life of today.

The only time element about Jesus is futurity. We have not passed Him. He is still ahead of us. When we consider the great social facts of today—government, industry, war—in the light of his teachings he breeds in us a divine discontent. We have been going forward for the centuries and yet, measured by the principles he taught two thousand years ago, we are so far short of what we ought to be.

"Jesus will not leave us alone. Even his enemies are challenged to continual warfare against him. He compels those who deny him to keep on reiterating their denial. Nor will he let his followers rest except as they are constantly demanding the larger brotherhood. in all life there is no center of activity so dynamic as he. 'Of the increase of his government there is no end.'

"There are many differences between the various Churches. But they all agree in making Jesus the center of their faith and of their activities. And whatever lasting good they accomplish, it is not by the emphasis upon the doctrines and customs peculiar to each but upon this lifting up of Christ which is common to all.

"When the Churches go away from him, he draws them back. When they terribly misunderstand him, as sometimes they do, he reveals himself more fully. They degenerate into more or less philanthropic social clubs save as they keep their faith and their love warm toward that Holy One who is their Lord.

Jesus is the center of the life of the individual disciple. To deny him is the greatest sin; to trust him, the highest faith; to serve him, the finest conduct; to depend on him, the greatest help; to expect from him, the most certain hope; to love him, the profoundest emotion.

"Paul put Jesus forever at the center of the Christian life when he said, 'For me to live—is Christ'."

Giving and Receiving for Christ Important

Giving Should Be Regular in Constant Recognition of God's Gifts," Rev. Prather Says.

"The sin of covetousness is classed along with other gross evils. It lies at the base of many other evils. Money is deceitful and uncertain. It can never satisfy the soul," the Rev. Guy L. Prather remarked in his sermon yesterday morning at the First Baptist Church.

"Covetousness often parades under an assumed name, such as foresight, business ability and thrift. Men do not give to worthy causes because they do not recognize their obligation to the Lord.

The Reverend Mr. Prather spoke on "An Attractive Investment," taking his text from Acts 20:35: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

"Jesus often uses the word blessed. He here speaks out of His experience. None had so much to give, none gave so much. But His words here often appear against reason.

"He recognizes the blessedness of receiving. So can we, though not with good grace. Thus do we meet our needs. Thus do we form friendships. Thus do we obtain power to do good. We must receive continually or soon become exceeding poor.

"We must give or injure the soul. The Dead Sea receives but does not give. Such a policy would crush all of us if applied. The Heaven gives rain and sunshine. The earth gives in abundance. So may hearts.

"Giving applies to abilities as well as money. Giving should be regular as a constant recognition of God's gifts and of our needs. Giving should be generous, as befits worthy souls. Less than a tenth fails to recognize and obey the standard set by God himself. He is the author of our talents and abilities. He gives us all things. He has a right to set the rate of return. We are dishonest not to admit it. Our Christian heart should teach us to do more gladly and more freely what the law required of the Jew. 'Let no man appear before me empty.'

"Giving is the assertion and exercise of ability that gives added strength. It is a grateful recognition of our gracious God, and our duty to Him. It thwarts a selfish covetous heart. It cultivates and absorbing interest in many noble causes. 'The liberal soul shall be made fat.' The poor widow did not feel too poor to help support that which stood for the presence of God among His people. Jesus commended her gifts and her devotion."

A Practical Religion Urged by Rev. Lakin

Christian Minister Applies Principle of Lincoln-Grant Whisky Episode to Christianity.

"During the Civil War some temperance folk called on President Lincoln and charged General Grant with drinking and urged his removal from the command of the armies on that ground," the Rev. L. E. Lakin of Kansas City recalled in his sermon last night at the First Christian Church, when he spoke on "Pragmatic Religion."

"Lincoln," the minister continued, "was always noted for his good common sense and his humor. 'What kind of liquor does he drink?' queried Lincoln. And then he concluded: 'If I knew, I would get a barrel for every general in the Union army.'

"Lincoln was a temperance advocate, he was deeply religious, and yet he spoke in this way. Grant was winning victories, and that was what Lincoln wanted. Lincoln was a pragmatist. He judged the desirability of a thing by the purpose that it served. If liquor made good successful generals, he wanted more of it.

Repeal if It Is Wrong.

"Would you be shocked if I were to tell you I believe in Lincoln's philosophy? If liquor is a good thing and it will improve our moral and financial condition, and will make us a greater people, we ought to repeal the eighteenth amendment. This is my position exactly," the Reverend Mr. Lakin said.

"We want to succeed as a people, as a nation. If this 'dryness' about which so many complain is really sapping our vitality, and we are losing out in the battle of life, let's hasten back to the old order. Let's get the booze on the market in quantities and at the cheapest possible price. Let's supply it, at least to the weak at a minimum price, or supply it at government expense. This was Lincoln's religion, and it's mine.

"If virtue is not profitable, why not give reins to passion?" he continued. "If militarism is the only road to peace, let's have an army. And if Christianity has no present compensation let's cast it into the discard. For if God is unmindful of any part or period of His Divinie order, He is not the God of love He is purported to be; revelation is a misrepresentation; and God Himself is no longer the God of Israel, and the hope of the ages.

"But It Isn't"

"But—

"Liquor does not make good soldiers. Lincoln knew it, and we have all found it out. Drink unfits men for strenuous duty. It demoralizes, it brutalizes, it pauperizes. Drink unfits men for public service or private business. It wrecks homes, makes orphans, fills jails and penetentiaries. Drink is a curse. Therefore I shall stand for the Eighteenth Amendment, and hope and pray for a sober country.

"And dishonesty is not profitable. Godliness is profitable in all things. Therefore I shall preach it and urge it.

"Militarism is not the road to greatness. And I am no militarist. I believe in the Prince of Peace. His philosophy of life is workable. We have not used it, it is true, but that is not the fault of the Teacher. I shall try to put his philosophy to the test. Peace shall be the burden of my preaching. I shall try to be peaceable. For this is the road to happiness, and to Heaven, I am sure.

"And Christianity is not a failure in this world order. It has brought into being a new world. There are ideals that have not been realized—they may never be realized for that matter. But why be blind to the accomplishments of our faith? The workman takes his dollar, his wage, and uses it, and rejoices. He could make himself quite miserable should he pine over and covet the gold that is in the hands of others. Billions there are which he shall never possess, but when the workman satisfies his needs and gets his wage he goes on happy and contented.

Christianity has been working miracles through the ages—the miracles of regeneration. It has brought heaven to earth. It has made life tolerable. And the Christ marches on, and his kingdom is coming, coming nearer with each rising sun.

"Yes, I believe in Jesus Christ. Would that the world might believe in Him."

The Church World's Greatest Business

Rev. W. N. Dewar Says Persons Who Pronounce It Dead Always Change Minds.

"The calamity howlers of the age who have shouted that Christianity is dead have always lived to change their minds," the Rev. William N. Dewar said in a sermon last night at the First Presbyterian church.

The "business of God," the minister declared, has been growing, "like the mustard seed, slowly but inevitably, and today it is the greatest business in the world."

In substantiation he pointed out that in point of money invested the church is in the greatest business in the world; that 216,078 men are employed in America alone; that its vast equipment includes churches, church schools, mission stations, colleges, seminaries, presses, periodicals, books.

As for production, the Reverend Mr. Dewar declared the church "produces the one product that the world cannot get along without in these days."

Discussing growth and progress, a favorite business practice, he contrasted the beginning, with Jesus and twelve men, to a membership now in America alone of close to 17 millions, with millions of children in the Sunday School.

Nor is there lack of expansion, he pointed out, the church pushing out every year to China, Japan, Africa, India, the ends of the earth.

He discussed also the ideals of the church, its moral tone and its spiritual inspiration.

He summed up the "world's greatest business" as "Christ the foundation; the structure the Kingdom; the spirit of the Kingdom's progress, love."

An American Institution

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a thoroughly American institution—American in its methods, American in its ideals and in its practical way of carrying them out.

It has been said that:

"Our individualism (in America) differs from all others because it embraces these great ideals: that while we build our society upon the attainment of the individual, we shall safeguard to every individual an equality of opportunity to take that position in the community to which his intelligence, character, ability, and ambition entitle him; that we keep the social solution free from frozen strata of classes; that we shall stimulate effort of each individual to achievement; that through an enlarging sense of responsibility and understanding we shall assist him to this attainment; while he in turn must stand up to the emery wheel of competition."

All individuals in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have equal opportunities. Effort is stimulated and effort encouraged among all employes of the Company by the knowledge that each individual may achieve the position "to which his intelligence, character, ability and ambition entitle him."

No man is hindered by an insignificant beginning. No man is helped by power or place his father may have won. Positions in this Company are open to the men best qualified to fill them. Promotion is gained in only one way—it must be earned.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has shown an "enlarging sense of responsibility and understanding" in assisting each individual to his highest attainment.

Numerous measures have been instituted for the benefit of employes. Through the Industrial Relations Plan, employes have a voice in regulating their affairs. They are provided for in old age by the Annuity Plan. The Death Benefits give further assistance in time of need.

Employes are aided in achieving financial security by means of a Stock Purchasing Plan which allows them to purchase Company stock on generous terms. 16,267 men and women are now purchasing stock under this Plan.

In providing equality of opportunity for thousands of men and women—in maintaining a warm spirit of friendliness and mutual helpfulness throughout its organization—the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is expressing American ideals in the large terms of a large business.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

© Charles Scribner's Sons

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS

PHILO VANCE
JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York City.
MARGARET ODELL (THE "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man about town
KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. AMBROISE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau

The thing that baffles Vance most is the jewel case. It had been opened with a steel chisel after unsuccessfully being pried with a poker. Spotswoode had gone out with Margaret Odell the night she was murdered. When he left her he told Jessup to call a cab. They heard a scream from her room, but when they reached her door were told everything was all right. The next morning she had been found strangled. Vance believes two men were in the apartment, one in a clothes closet, the other the murderer. Investigation discloses that Cleaver has been seen with her the most and finger-prints in the apartment lead to the identification of Tony Skeel.

CHAPTER 16

He hung up the receiver and rubbed his hands together. "Now we're sailing," he rejoiced. Vance had gone to the window, and stood staring down on the "Bridge of Sighs," his hands thrust deep into his pockets. Slowly he turned, and fixed Heath with a contemplative eye.

"It simply won't do, don't y' know," he asserted. "Your friend, the Dude, may have ripped open that bally box, but his head isn't the right shape for the rest of last evening's performance."

Heath was contemptuous.

"Not being a phrenologist, I'm going by the shape of his finger prints."

"A woeful error in the technic of criminal approach, Sergeant," replied Vance dulcetly. "The question of culpability in this case isn't so simple as you imagine. It's deuced complicated. And this glass of fashion and mould of form whose portrait you're carryin' next to your heart has merely added to its intricacy."

(Tuesday, September 11; 8 p. m.)

Markham dined at the Stuyvesant club, as was his custom, and at his invitation Vance and I remained with him. He no doubt figured that our presence at the dinner table would act as a bulwark against the intrusion of casual acquaintances; for he was in no mood for the pleasantries of the curious.

Rain had begun to fall late in the afternoon, and when dinner was over it had turned into a steady downpour which threatened to last well into the night. Dinner over, the three of us sought a secluded corner of the lounge-room, and settled ourselves for a protracted smoke.

We had been there less than a quarter of an hour when a slightly rotund man, with a heavy, florid face and thin gray hair, strolled up to us with a stealthy self-assured gait, and wished Markham a jovial good evening. Though I had not met the newcomer I knew him to be Charles Cleaver.

"Got your note at the desk saying you wanted to see me." He spoke with a voice curiously gentle for a man of his size; but, for all its gentleness, there was in it a timbre of calculation and coldness.

Markham rose and, after shaking hands, introduced him to Vance and me—though, it seemed, Vance had known him slightly for some time. He took the chair Markham indicated, and, producing a cigar, he carefully cut the end with a gold clipper attached to his heavy watchchain, rolled the cigar between his lips to dampen it, and lighted it in closely cupped hands.

"I'm sorry to trouble you, Mr. Cleaver," began Markham, "but, as you probably have read, a young woman by the name of Margaret Odell was murdered last night in her apartment in 71st Street. . . ."

He paused. He seemed to be considering just how he could best broach a subject so obviously delicate; and perhaps he hoped Cleaver would volunteer the fact of his acquaintance with the girl. But not a muscle of the man's face moved; and, after a moment, Markham continued.

"In making inquiries into the young woman's life, I learned that you, among others, were fairly well acquainted with her."

Again he paused. Cleaver lifted his eyebrows almost imperceptibly, but said nothing.

"The fact is," went on Markham, a trifle annoyed by the other's deliberately circumspect attitude, "my report states that you were seen with her on many occasions during a period of nearly two years. Indeed, the only inference to be drawn from what I've learned is that you were more than casually interested in Miss Odell."

"Yes?" The query was as non-committal as it was gentle.

"Yes," repeated Markham. "And may add, Mr. Cleaver, that this is not the time for pretenses or suppressions. I am talking to you tonight, in large measure ex officio, because it occurred to me that you could give me some assistance in clearing the matter up. I think it only fair to say that a certain man is now under grave suspicion, and we hope to arrest him very soon. But, in any event, we will need help, and that is why I requested this little chat with you at the club."

"And how can I assist you?" Cleaver's face remained blank; only his lips moved as he put the question.

"Knowing this young woman as well as you did," explained Markham patiently, "you are no doubt in possession of some information—certain facts or confidences, let us say—which would throw light on her brutal and apparently unexpected, murder."

Cleaver was silent for some time. His eyes had shifted to the wall before him, but otherwise his features remained set.

"I'm afraid I can't accommodate you," he said at length.

"Your attitude is not quite what might be expected in one whose conscience is entirely clear," returned Markham, with a show of resentment.

The man turned a mildly inquisitive gaze upon the district attorney.

"What has my knowing the girl to do with her being murdered? She didn't confide in me who her murderer was to be. She didn't even tell me that she know any one who intended to strangle her. If she'd known, she most likely could have avoided being murdered."

Vance was sitting close to me, a little removed from the others, and, leaning over, murmured in my ear:

"Markham's up against another lawyer—poor dear! . . . A crumplin' situation."

But, however inauspiciously this interlocutory skirmish may have begun it soon developed into a grim combat which ended in Cleaver's complete surrender. Markham, despite his suavity and graciousness, was an unrelenting and resourceful antagonist; and it was not long before he had forced from Cleaver some highly significant information.

In response to the man's ironically evasive rejoinder, he turned quickly and leaned forward.

"You're not on the witness-stand in your own defense, Mr. Cleaver," he said sharply, "however much you appear to regard yourself as eligible for the position."

Cleaver glared back fixedly without relying; and Markham, his eyelids level studied the man opposite, determined to decipher all he could from the other's phlegmatic countenance. But Cleaver was apparently just as determined that his vis-a-vis should decipher absolutely nothing; and the features that met Markham's scrutiny were as arid as a desert. At length Markham sank back in his chair.

"It doesn't matter particularly," he remarked indifferently, "whether you discuss the matter or not here in the club tonight. If you prefer to be brought to my office in the morning by a sheriff with a subpoena, I'll be only too glad to accommodate you."

"That's up to you," Cleaver told him, hostilely.

"And what's printed in the newspapers about it will be up to the reporters," rejoined Markham. "I'll explain the situation to them and give them a verbatim report of the interview."

"But I've nothing to tell you." The other's tone was suddenly conciliatory; the idea of publicity was evidently distasteful to him.

"So you informed me before," said Markham coldly. "Therefore, I wish you good evening."

He turned to Vance and me with the air of a man who had terminated an unpleasant episode.

Cleaver, however, made no move to go. He smoked thoughtfully for a minute or two; then he gave a short, hard laugh which did not even disturb the contours of his face.

"Oh, hell!" he grumbled, with forced good-nature. "As you said, I'm not on the witness-stand. . . What do you want to know?"

"I've told you the situation," Markham's voice betrayed a curious irritation. "You know the sort of thing I want. How did this Odell girl live? Who were her intimates? Who would have been likely to want her out of the way? What enemies had she?—Anything that might lead us to an explanation of her death. . . And, incidentally," he added with tartness, "anything that'll eliminate yourself from any suspected participation, direct or indirect, in the affair."

Cleaver stiffened at these last words, and started to protest indignantly. But immediately he changed his tactics. Smiling contemptuously, he took out a leather pocket-case and, extracting a small folder paper, handed it to Markham.

Drink Water to Help Wash Out Kidney Poison

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try it; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Trenton to Have Fair Grounds.

Trenton—Stockholders of the Grundy County Fair Association have voted to establish the fair grounds in this city as a public park. The County court is expected to purchase the ground, maintaining it for exhibition purposes.

New Gym for Normandy School.

Normandy—This city has approved a $342,000 bond issue for erection of a new gymnasium and vocational building for the Normandy High School.

Burlington to Build Cameron Short Line

Rock Island Railroad to Assist in Construction of 55-Mile Link With Kansas City

Kansas City, Mo., March 5—Kansas City looked forward today to establishment of a new short line railroad link between here and Cameron Junction, Mo. The proposed 55-mile link will cost approximately $6,000,000, railroad officials said.

The line will be built jointly by the Burlington and Rock Island railroads and work on the project was expected to start in the near future. Two years will be required to complete the line, it was said.

The project, expected to be the biggest single railroad building program in the west this year, will be used for transcontinental fast freight movement through Kansas City.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The Campaign Log

(By United Press)

Bishop James Cannon of the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, urged a presidential candidate who was "dry" and said that Governor Smith of New York and Governor Ritchie of Maryland had done a great deal towards the breakdown of the prohibition law.

Victor Murdock, chairman of the progressive party in 1912, predicted the presidential candidates this year would be vice president Dawes for the Republicans and Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio for the Democrats.

Ferguson, Mo., March 5.—With a shotgun lying near him, Robert W. Burkholder, 27, cashier of the Burkholder Bond Company, St. Louis was found dead of a gunshot wound in the head Sunday. A family physician expressed the belief the weapon was discharged accidentally.

249 Runners Remain in Long Marathon

Puente, Calif., March 5—Two hundred and forty-nine men were to start the second lap of C. C. Pyle's cross-country "go as you can" race today.

The field came here yesterday from Los Angeles on the first lap of the 3,400 mile grind that eventually will end in New York.

The next stretch will be one of 36 miles to Colton, Calif. Another rest and then the race will begin in earnest, with 55 to 60 miles of ground to be covered each day.

Willie Kolehmainen, finnish runner, leads the list. He finished at the head of the field Sunday, making the 16½ miles from Los Angeles in 1:39:29.

Gunnar Neilson was second and Sam Richman, New York, third.

A Paying Venture

Five thousand persons assembled here yesterday to see the weary runners pull into the tent city erected by Pyle to accommodate them.

It was evident that Pyle would make the $200,000 he planned to derive from the contest by the way of hot dogs and pop sold.

The first men to reach New York will divide $48,000 prize money.

Harold "Red" Grange, football star, set off the bomb that started the athletes on their way. He will cover the distance to New York as an official, riding in the $25,000 automobile from stopping place to stopping place.

Virtually every flag of the world is represented by the entrants.

The race is expected to end in 65 to 70 days.

Lloyd Hahn Breaks Half-Mile Record

New York, March 5—Lloyd Hahn, rugged Boston A. A. star, ran the greatest half-mile in track history Saturday night, shattering the world's indoor record as well as surpassing the outdoor mark, by winning a special race in 1 minute 51 2-5 seconds in connection with the I. C. A. A. A. A. championship games held here.

Dr. Peltzer, the German champion, was a spectator as Hahn circled the fast intercollegiate track four times in probably the greatest race of his career.

Mr. and Mrs. Ova C. Goff of Barnard were Maryville visitors today.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, Mar. 5.—Dispatches from the winter wheat belt continued to report extensive damage and wheat prices shot into a sharp advance today. Corn rallied from an early drop and gained with wheat. Oats advanced steadily but in minor fractions.

Final figures: Wheat 1⅝c to 1⅝ up; corn ⅜c to ½c up and oats ⅛c to ⅜c higher. Provisions rallied strongly from a final dip and closed sharply higher.

The winter wheat situation dominated the wheat pit. Dispatches from scattered points spoke of heavy damage to fields and it is feared that abandonment will be larger than expected. Big traders were inclined to take profits on the bulge but a flood of small orders from all sections of the country offset their influence. Export business was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels mostly Manitobas. The cash market advanced ½c despite receipts of 47.

Heavy receipts of 681 cars and continued favorable belt weather depressed corn early in the day and prices lost a large fraction, with the strength in wheat, however, and the fundamentally bullish sentiment in corn, all futures rallied easily and regained the losses. There was practically no news. The cash market held unchanged.

Oats was without disturbing influence and the undertone continued firm because of the essentially strong position on the grain. Receipts were 157 cars and the cash market held unchanged.

SPOOFHOUNDS WIN REVENGE

23-19 TOURNAMENT VITORY OVER BURLINGTON IS SWEET.

Two Victorious Quintets Go Into District Tourney.—Last Game a Thriller.

TOURNEY SCORES SATURDAY

Semi-Finals

Pickering 39, Parnell 16.
Maryville 23, Burlington Junction 19.

Second Round

Parnell 14, Rosendale 12.
Pickering 28, Guilford 24.
Maryville 24, Hopkins 13.
Burlington Junction 44, Skidmore 7.

Maryville and Pickering will be the entries representing Andrew and Nodaway counties in the district basketball tournament here Friday and Saturday at the State Teachers College, as the result of the Saturday night games in the sub-district cage tournament here at the College gymnasium.

Pickering won the upper bracket of the semi-finals by defeating Parnell, 39 to 16, in fairly easy fashion.

In one of the best high school games of the season, played before a bi-partisan crowd, Maryville won the other semi-final clash, 23 to 19, from Burlington Junction. These two teams had played on the Maryville High School court Tuesday and Burlington Junction had won 18-15. The game Saturday night indicated that the result is a toss-up between these two cage teams whenever they meet.

Game Provides Thrills

Maryville and Burlington furnished easily the most thrilling moments of the tournament. Maryville started the scoring when Smith, Maryville guard, found the meshed hoop for a pretty shot in the first minute of play. Harlan Plummer, Burlington Junction center, offset the lead, as he eluded the Maryville defense and slipped in a counter from beneath the basket.

Smith then caged another long one. His foul gave George Manes a free toss, which he made good. This finished the Burlington scoring for the quarter, but Russell, Maryville forward, came in fast under the basket to boost the Spoofhounds to a 6 to 3 lead.

McMurry, Spofhound center, began a drive in the second quarter, with a two-pointer from his favorite position around the free throw line. Wilson fouled. Harlan Plummer made the gift shot good, and it was followed by a field basket by Manes, Burlington forward. Maryville tried to check this rally with time out, but Manes caged a third basket before Russell made good his second goal to end the half with a knotted count, 10-all.

Wilson ruffled the netting with a gift toss to begin activities after the intermission. Russell increased the lead to three before Harlan Plummer made a long shot. Marvin Plummer then put Burlington in a 14 to 13 lead. Smith overhauled this with his third field goal of the contest, and then, after missing two gift tosses, was fouled again and sent both free shots true. The Spoofhounds led by three points. Burlington called time, and the third quarter ended without any further scoring. The score: Burlington Junction 14; Maryville 17.

Smith the Spoofhound Star

Smith again led the Maryville attack and set the scorers to work on the Spoofhound's accounts. Marvin Plummer was next with a bid for Burlington, and Barr, a new player in the Burlington ranks, also pierced the netting. Wilson, running in fast and close under the hoop, scored for Maryville. With the score 21 to 18 in favor of Maryville, Russell tipped in his fourth basket to increase Maryville's tally to 23. Harlan Plummer counted last for the Orange and Black quintet with a charity toss only a few seconds before the gong sounded.

Smith, with his clever guarding and valuable counters, of which he gleaned five, was an extremely valuable man in Coach Wallace Croy's lineup. He and Russell led the Maryville scoring, Russell snagging four field goals. McMurry played his consistent, aggressive floor game. Hahn, Maryville guard, tended solely to his defensive work and Wilson during the time he was in rang up two well earned baskets. Each man was performing to order—not sensationally, but consistently.

The Burlington machine, put into such near-perfection by Coach C. K. Thompson, that it had won fifteen victories, was putting forth its best in a god sportsman-like manner. Each man was playing good basketball, although some difficulty was experienced in finding the basket.

Four Bearcats Given M. I. A. A. Recognition; Burks Outstanding

Although the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College 1928 basketball team could do no better than finish the season in a tie with Kirksville for second place in the M. I. A. A. loop, two members of the local Teachers College were placed on the first all-star team, one on the second team and one was given honorable mention.

Orville Hedges of Maryville and Fox of Springfield were named as forwards on the first all-star team; Dodd of Springfield and O. Craig of Kirksville, guards.

But there was one player all observers agreed could not be kept off the team. He is "our" Paul Burks of Pickering, a center whose playing outstanding throughout the year, and critics were not slow in declaring him the "sweetest" center they had seen. Ed Cockrane, sports editor of the Kansas City Journal Post had this to say of Burks:

"To Hedges and Fox a certain amount of honor is due, but if any one player is to be singled out as the 'big shot' of the season, Burks of Maryville probably would draw the prize. He was by far the most consistent center in the league. He gained the tip a majority of the times and as a floor man and scorer had few equals outside of the Missouri Valley."

Fox High-Point Man.

Fox was high point man of the conference with 163 points and was a good defensive player. Against all of the other teams in the league he was a potential threat, and largely was responsible for the big scores amassed by the Bears. In the Springfield game against Maryville here, Fox was the whole show for the Bears, accounting for most of the Springfield scores.

Hedges was placed on the all-star team again this season as last. He played his best games against Springfield, and on the Southwest Teachers court was claimed to be the best shot of the circuit. Hedges played a more rugged type of basketball this year than in the past, perhaps due to his football last fall. But like his teammates, Hedges was as tempermental as "the highest paid prima donna," as one fan here put it.

As a result he did not top the conference but was third in scoring points. Hedges, however, was a marked man in every game he played and the Kirksville and Warrensburg guards were especially vigilant in watching his actions. When Hedges was "hot" he could not be stopped, but Hedges did not round into form until the Bearcats had played about four games.

Fine Defensive Pair.

The guards, Dodd of Springfield and O. Craig of Kirksville, are a fine defensive pair, and have ability to find the loop when occasion demands. Dodd was captain of the Springfield team and took it upon himself to keep opponents to low scores. He is a heavy man, tipping the scales at 170 pounds and rightly deserves the position. O. Craig of Kirksville was the best player on the Northeast Teachers team. He always could be found in the midst of the scrimmage, besides being the cog around which the Kirksville offense started.

Some fans will differ, however, on the choosing between Lloyd Harris of Maryville and O. Craig for first team honors. Harris developed into an aggressive player as the season progressed and he also became a threat as a basket shooted toward the latter part of the season. It may be that because Hedges and Burks were given first team recognition, O. Craig was given the preference over Harris.

Leon Ungles is the other Maryville player recognized by M. I. A. A. officials and coaches. If Leon had a few inches more height it would be "too bad" for the opposing team. As it is, this diminutive Maryville forward made things miserable for opponents with his left hand hooks and he maintained a reputation as one of the fastest men in the circuit.

May Enter National Tourney.

The Bearcats have finished their schedule and may enter the National tournament at Kansas City starting March 12. They have been entered but whether the Bearcats will actually make their appearance on Convention Hall floor depends on action yet to be taken by the coaches.

The Bearcats finished in a tie for second but on their good days they were the best team in the loop. Inconsistent playing was responsible for their five defeats, as when the Bearcats were "on," no team in the circuit could stop them. The Bearcats should be unstoppable next season. One man from the Varsity seven is lost by graduation, Lloyd Harris, and his services will be sorely missed. However, Burks, Hedges, Ungles, Ferguson, Iba and McKee have one or more years of competition before they graduate and a "topping" season is anticipated in 1929.

Still a Stand-off

The family combination of the Manes' and Plummers, in the ratio of one to four, tried valiantly for a second triumph over the Maryville five, and did so well that Burlington fans were not shaken in the slightest in their conviction that they have the best team. Neither, it might be added, are the Maryville fans. The pity is that both teams could not have entered the final district tournament next week, with the possibility of meeting a third time there.

The floor work of the two teams was on a par. Burlington had an edge in working the ball down for close shots, but the Spoofhounds more than offset this with their superior shooting from long range.

Interest never lagged because of any slow playing, yet no intentional roughness was apparent.

George Manes scored highest for his quintet with four goals, all counted in the first half. Harlan Plummer finished with three two-pointers and a charity toss, while Marvin Plummer slipped down the floor two times to tally for the Orange and Black. Again the work of Harlan Plummer stood out and made him the best center of the tourney.

Both Donald ("Red") Berst of Rock Port and Sam Ransdell of Chillicothe officiated jointly in this game.

Nearly a Walkaway

The first game of the semi-finals, played at 7:30 o'clock, resulted in a walkaway for Pickering by a 38 to 16 score.

Brice Rickard scored for Pickering to get things started. Then Morris counted and in the next five minutes the Pickering men had caged sixteen points while the Parnell men were scoreless.

In the second quarter, A. Miller, guard on the Parnell five, led a Parnell attack, which, accumulated seven points before Pickering had found the hoop since the first quarter ended. The power of Pickering was exhibited, however, in a second spurt which boosted the score to 24 to 8, when the gong rang for intermission.

Stewart scored first after the rest with a field goal for Parnell. Pickering then began activities with a second barrage which netted ten points by Harmon, Galen McGinness and Brice Rickard before Parnell scored again. Keeping up a stream of counters in this fashion the Pickering men easily held sway throughout the rest of the contest, holding Parnell to a meagre count.

Hopkins Leads at Half

After leading 6 to 5 at the half Ted Search's players of Hopkins succumbed to a rally by Maryville in the third game of the second round in Saturday afternoon's play. The rally found Maryville leading 23 to 12 when the game ended.

Russell, McMurry and Wilson bore the brunt of the play for Maryville, Russell caging three counters and McMurry and Wilson each getting two in the last half. Barrett also came in for a two-pointer during the short time that he was in the game, while Smith crept down the floor once to ring up a good one.

Frederick Mutti of Hopkins made his two field baskets during the first half, which were augmented by one field basket by the light-footed Jackson at center. The half was featured by close guarding and erratic shooting.

In the second half, Maryville located the basket, while Hopkins seemed to be followed by extremely hard luck, and the Spoofhounds were dominant for the rest of the contest.

Sayler caged two difficult counters from a distant side position, Robert Mutti, diminutive forward, found the basket with a third, and F. Mutti tallied a gift toss to complete the Hopkins scoring.

The last game of the afternoon was a walkaway in which Burlington Junction, defeated Skidmore, 44 to 7.

Coach Thompson used his second string players a great part of this contest, in view of the coming tussle with Maryville.

M. Schiller caged one two-pointer in the second half for Skidmore. Hill tallied a free toss and a field goal, and King caged one field goal for Skidmore.

END SEASON WITH DEFEAT

BEARCATS LOSE TO KIRKSVILLE BY 42-30 SCORE

IN A TIE FOR SECOND

After a Good Start, Lawrence Men Fail to Keep Pace—Burks Again Outstanding Star

Finishing the season Saturday night with a defeat at the hands of the Kirksville Teachers, 42 to 30, the Maryville Bearcats tied for second place position in the 1928 M. I. A. A. basketball race with the Northeast Teachers. Both teams won seven and lost five games. Springfield was conceded to have won the mythical title with nine wins and three games lost.

The Northeast Teachers were unable to find the basket in their game Saturday night, although the Bearcats took the lead from the start.

The Maryville defense was working nicely for about the first ten minutes, while the offense was keeping a step ahead of the Bulldogs. Maryville led 4-2; and 6-3. Kirksville closed the gap, knotting the score, and then went ahead but the Bearcats pulled up even with the Faurot men at 10-all, the last time the score was even. A free throw by the Bulldogs broke the deadlock when the half ended the Bearcats were trailing 19 to 14.

The last half was all Kirksville's, with L. Craig, Fisher and Simmons find the basket consistently and the Maryville shots rolling off the iron hoop.

Burks Outstanding Star

Again, Burks was the outstanding player of the game. His floor work was not to be excelled and he was high point man of the game with five field baskets and the same number of free throws.

Harris, Maryville guard, who had been laid up with an infected foot, played, but he counted only a free throw.

Kirksville made good nearly every attempted basket in the last half, and this accuracy and good-fortune enabled the Bulldogs to pull away to a substantial lead when the final whistle sounded.

L. Craig was high-point man for Kirksville, making 11 points. The box score:
